The TITANIC lives in super 1/570 scale

The Baron's Blood-Red Triplane

The Red Baron and the Fokker Triplane—two legends united! Meet the Western Front of 1917...and Revell puts both of them together in great 1/570th scale in this detailed model kit of Baron Manfred Von Richthofen's last D88C triplane. Complete with full cockpit detail, twin Sperry/Hoover machine guns, Oberoiel rotary engine and three figures, this model builds up into a highly detailed replica of the actual aircraft in which the Red Baron scored the last of his aerial victories...and in which he was later shot down and killed. The Fokker still had an absolute rating of 30,000 feet and top speed of only 120 miles per hour in 1917. It was the winning maneuverability which made it lethal. In Richthofen's hands, even a 40 mph wind could be a deadly enemy. It's your turn in getting a winning, action-packed flying replica.

The Western legend manufacturer of plastic model kits

On the morning of April 14th 1918 the impossible happened. The RMS Titanic—said to be unsinkable—collided with an iceberg on her maiden voyage and sank in 15 hours. 2,202 passengers and crew were drowned, and it became the most feared maritime disaster of all time. Now, thanks to Revell, you can capture all the drama glory of this great disaster—scale 1/570th scale, replica which builds up into a beautiful model (144 pieces total). And it's packed with the kind of detail—discovery-level detail you expect from Revell. Flaming, chutes, skylights, masts, radiators—oh all these. And it's fully mounted with a full flag sheet and enclosed too. It's quite a lot to build, and quite a thrill to display. So look for it at your nearest model store.

Dashing Datsum

Take Revell's Datsum 240—2 1/2 liter 4-cyl. 4-cyl. and detail your eyes! Take Revell's motorcycle kit. With big 1/120th scale and great you a choice of stock car or racing version—with two starting wheels and a choice of color. The new prepared in-line 300cc engine is built in chunky chunky detail, will go on red rubber Dynaflex racing tires, map wheels and a richly detailed complete detail sheet. The bookend against Crappling—what's the word for Revell's cut range, whether you're after an 800cc bike, a racing Formula or a 1000cc blurring top line racer, trike, harrier, mini flat bike, and neither to put on the make that's your kind of dream in the dynamic world, and it's there on all Revell's bike and motorcycle kits. See them all at your local Revell shop.

Unlike the Wildlife Fund, the girl's idea of a wildlife story was a different nature which had wilder feelings in the form of all the 1950s. She had a sense of wonder as to how it was that the bird's flight, an eagle, should be so much more than a simple bird.
